This diagram is a simplified view of the global flow of the simulator, from the loading of the configuration to the end of the simulation and the analyse of the results.